

The Never Ending Reign Of Situation Comedies

Contributed by Webmaster
Monday, 09 June 2008
Last Updated Monday, 09 June 2008

By dror klar

In the early television days the first situation comedies were family oriented shows like Father Knows Best, which aired in 1954 and Leave it to Beaver, which aired in 1957. Later on came My Three Sons, which aired in 1960 and ended in 1972. These were just a few of the first shows that had comedy plots, but often had a more sentimental touching side as well.

In 1971, All in the F....

Article Source : Article King Pro - Free Reprints and Distribution

Dish Network

{mos_sb_discuss:2}